Team

DIRECTOR / OPERATIONS MANAGER / MARINE SURVEYOR

Mr Sergio Mensitieri

Mr Mensitieri was born in Naples (Italy) from an extended family of Mariners. His own father sailed with the Italian Navy and served as a medical officer for passenger liners. His uncles sailed as Master Mariners primarily for Grimaldi Shipping.

Sergio and his family migrated to Australia in 1971, learning to speak both fluent English and Italian.

In 1998, Sergio completed a Bachelor of Education passing with Honours and over the years developed his teaching career finishing with Marcellin Technical College which aims to equip teenagers with a trade skill, focusing on teaching mathematics & physics.

Mr Mensitieri commenced employment as a surveyor for Faro Marine Services at the beginning of 2013 after finding a sincere interest in the marine industry. Particularly after having already accompanied and assisted on some inspections over the years with his father in law, Captain Nello Magliulo.

By the end of 2014, Mr Mensitieri attained his Diploma in Marine Surveying from the Australasian Institute of Marine Surveyors. He also completed the DRY BULK UNIT giving him a specialisation in Grain Surveying and has been conducting Grain Surveys both at Anchorage and at Berth since January 2015. Mr Mensitieri is also an accredited authorised Officer for the Department of Agriculture having completed many hold inspections as an External AO.

Sergio received exclusive training from Captain Nello, performing a vast array of survey categories since his commencement of employment and, in February 2016, was promoted to Operations Manager, responsible for the majority of surveying work the company undertook.

On the 1st July 2019 Sergio Mensitieri became Principal and co-Director of the company

Subsequent to completing Nautical College in Naples (Italy), he served at sea from 1962 until 1974 on a wide variety of merchant vessels in worldwide trade, including general cargo, bulk carrier, refrigerated cargo, tanker, ro-ro and passenger liner.

Captain Magliulo migrated to Australia in 1974 and commenced employment with Société Générale de Surveillance (SGS Australia - formerly General Superintendence Company) in Sydney in June 1975 as a Marine Surveyor. By the end of the same year, he had helped expand SGS Petroleum Services Australia-wide.

In August 1979, Captain Magliulo moved to Adelaide to set up a South Australian office, covering several senior management positions including State Manager. In 1987, Nello was a lecturer for the Redwood (Petroleum & Petrochemical) Division, conducting Training Courses. Over the years he expanded his business, training additional staff until 1st July 2019 when he passed the business onto Sergio Mensitieri, as part of his succession plan.
